20. Best Practices adopted

IMI Bhubaneswar has a rich resource pool of quality full time members who have contributed towards adoption of various unique practices in order to improve the quality of education at IMI and make the students industry-ready. In order to facilitate improvement in teaching and learning, following key initiatives have been taken.

1. In a major revamp of programme curriculum, all core courses offered to PGDM students have been converted into two credit courses that require 20 hours of classroom interaction. A course - restructuring committee was constituted comprising of faculty members. This committee took into consideration the AICTE criteria for core and elective courses credit requirements. Accordingly, it recommended optimization of credits for core courses. Subsequently the matter was deliberated upon in the Faculty Council and approved upon. Feedback was also sought from the experts during the curriculum revision meetings held at Area level. All these courses were earlier of 3 credit requiring 30 hours of class-room interaction. The major objective behind this was to provide more opportunity to students to engage in self-learning. A greater thrust was laid on self-preparation.
2. In order to provide students with deeper knowledge on emerging streams, Information Management & Marketing Analytics was created as a sub-area to offer all analytics related functional courses such as Marketing Analytics, Financial Analytics, HR Analytics, Data visualization, Web and social media analytics etc. In keeping with this new format, Business Analytics was converted into a core course that is not being taught before the students proceed for summer internship. This was done to provide students with greater analytical skills prior to their industry exposure during summer internship.
3. Marketing Strategy has been introduced in the 3rd Trimester. It is being taught using Markstrat simulation. The students are divided into different teams and they execute their marketing strategies on the simulation platform. The effectiveness of their strategy is reflected in the share prices of the company. The group with the highest share price wins the game at the end of the term. Parallely, students are debriefed by the faculty regarding their strategies and its impact on share prices. This hands-on training to students is aimed at getting the student market-ready before they venture out for their summer internship.
