1. Course Objectives:

The course is designed to explore what leaders really do to meet adaptive challenges in their environment. It looks at leadership as a process of self-transformation and organizational renewal. Taking a descriptive as well as a prescriptive approach, the course distinguishes between leadership and management. This course will create a model of leadership that addresses key competencies required to succeed in a complex, knowledge driven environment. At the end of the course the students are expected to gain insights into:

- (a) What are the foundational values that determine leadership behavior?
- (b) Action choices for leaders who have to engage in adaptive work in organizations.
- (c) Development and dispersal of leadership within organization and community.

Pedagogy:

It will be a judicious mix of lectures, case analysis & discussion, exercises/games, class-discussions and project/assignments.

Course Evaluation:

Assignment/Project	40% + 20%
End-term	40%
